

The International Olympic Committee has made its traditional award of the Olympic Order to the following people who have made a particularly distinguished contribution to the Olympic movement.

OLYMPIC ORDER IN GOLD

Giulio ANDREOTTI (ITA), president of the Council of Ministers of the Italian Republic and president of the European Council. President of the Organizing Committee of the Games of the XVII Olympiad in Rome.

OLYMPIC ORDER

Horst Ceorg SCHREIBER (FRG), secretary-general of the International Shooting Union since 1980. Member of the council of the Association of International Sports Federations (GAISF).

Hugo de SA CAMPELLO FILHO (BRA), elected to the International Shooting Union board in 1980, founder and president of the South American Shooting Confederation and organizer of the first South American Shooting Championships. He has been head of the Brazilian shooting delegation at the last four Olympic Games.

Joaquim do COUTO SIMOES (BRA), senior member of the Brazilian Olympic Committee. South American fencing champion in 1954, president of the Brazilian Fencing Confederation 1944-1972, and former president of the South American Fencing Confederation.

Bernard MAMBEKE-BOUCHER (CGO), former Minister of Youth and Sports (1957 - 1959). Former athlete and football star. He helped to organize the first African Games and to set up the Congolese Football Federation, which he served as president.

Boniface MASSENGO (CGO), a former football player, he has held a number of posts in the Congolese sports administration. A former chief inspector of the ministry of youth and sports, he is a member of the bureau of the Congolese Football Federation, having formerly served as technical director to the national team.

Kun Hee LEE (KOR), chairman of the Samsung Group, chairman of the Korea Wrestling Federation since 1982. Standing member of the Korean Olympic Committee since 1982.

Maurice Seri GNOLEBA (CIV), president of the Côte d'Ivoire's track and field federation since 1962 and former French Western Africa university champion in the 100 and 200m. Former president of the national sports agency.

Mahmoud Mohamed RAAFAT (EGY), vice-president of the International Hockey Federation, he has been president of the African Hockey Federation for many years and has recently been honoured by the International Fair Play Committee.

Jonathan JANSON (GBR), IYRU Vice-President from 1969 until November 1990 and a member of the executive committee. He won a Olympic bronze medal in the Dragon Class in 1956 and was 5th in the event in 1960.

Rudolf KARPATI (HUN), a fencer who won six Olympic gold medals in sabre at four Games between 1948 and 1960, as well as seven gold, three silver and two bronze medals in the world championships. He is a member of the FIE, and of the Hungarian Fencing Federation. He helped to promote of the use of electric machines to score the touches in sabre fencing.

Reizo KOIKE (JPN), won an Olympic silver in 1932 and a bronze in 1936 in the 200m breaststroke and was several times Japanese champion in the event. He was in charge of the national swimming teams at the Games in Helsinki and in Melbourne and until 1965 he was a director of the Japan Amateur Swimming Federation.

Naoto TAJIMA (JPN), set a new world record of 16m in the triple jump at the Games in Berlin after a sixth place in the long jump at the Games in 1932. He is an honorary member of the Japanese Olympic Committee and a former chairman of the Japanese University Sports Board and former director of the Japan Amateur Sports Association.

Tomoo SATO (JPN), deputy secretary-general of the Organizing Committee for the Games of the XVIII Olympiad in Tokyo and secretary-general for the organizing committee for the XI Winter Games in Sapporo.

Fouad A. AL-FALAH (KUW), member of the Kuwait Olympic Committee since 1979, and a member of the OCA's rules committee.

Jan D. TIMMER (HOL), president of Philips, a firm which was one of the pioneers in granting support to sport, at both national and international level.

A.P. Pedro J. GALVEZ VELARDE (PER), a former South American track and field champion, he was elected president of the national athletics federation in 1932. He has served the NOC for fifty years and spent twenty five years as head of the South American Athletics Confederation. He is on the IAAF Board.

Ioan KUNST-GHERMANESCU (ROM), university professor of sports, who coached the national handball team to four Olympic medals and four world championships. Former chairman of the IHF's coaches commission and member of the IHF's technical commission.

Ivan PATZAICHIN (ROM), four times Olympic champion, eight times world champion in canoeing. Vice-president of the Romanian Olympic Committee since March 1990, head coach of the Romanian Olympic canoeing team.

Lamine DIACK (SEN), president of the Senegal Olympic Committee and president of the African Amateur Athletic Confederation. IAAF vice-president. Former Minister of Youth and Sport.

Iba DIOP MAR (SEN), former president of the NOC of Senegal, and member of the IOC's medical commission. Professor in medicine and former dean of Dakar's faculty of medicine and pharmacology.

Güner FRIK (TUR), a former athlete, member of the NOC and on the ENOC executive board. Founder and vice-president of the Turkish Sport Foundation, set up in 1989, and the Turkish Athletics Foundation, set up this year. He was chef de mission during the Winter Games in Innsbruck and a manager of the 92nd IOC Session in Istanbul.

Larissa LATYNINA (URS) won eighteen medals at the 1956, 1960 and 1964 Games: 9 gold, 5 silver and 4 bronze, a feat unequalled by any other athlete this century. She was several times world and European champion. Former national coach to the women's gymnastics team, she helped in the organization of the 1980 Games in Moscow. She currently works on the city's sports committee.

Asnoldo Vicente DEVONISH ROMERO (VEN), is the only Venezuelan to have won an Olympic medal in track and field. He has founded several sports clubs and societies in Venezuela and in other Latin American countries and is an honorary member of the Sports Committee of the "Fede-camaras".