Meyer Wins a Match
D. J. BRADLEY DEFEATED BY JUST ONE BIRD.

Meyer killed eighty-six at Twenty-One Yards Boundary—Bradley had all his Lost Birds Dead Out of Bounds—Short Boundary Against Him.

C. M. Meyer of the New Direct One Club of Rhode Island was invited to compete against T. W. Morley at the Hunt Club grounds on Feb. 4, and after an exciting contest defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.

Meyer thought he had an easy thing, but was actually defeated him by one bird, scoring 86 to his opponent's 85. Both men shot from the 25-yard mark, with 21 als, and what little wind there was was considered a help to the shooters on the left.